

Colourful creatures

Play Splat! And other "Pyth yw hemma?" games with pictures of coloured animals.

Set up an array of pictures on a flip-chart. Call out two 'volunteers' and give each one a fly-swatter. Simply call out the name of a coloured animal and see which of the two can 'splat' the correct picture first with their fly-swatter.

(Disallow any 'double-splating' - take the first picture splatted as the answer)

You can play exactly the same game in threes. Give each trio a set of pictures to spread on the table in front of them.

Organise them to take it in turns to be the 'caller/referee' and to use rulers as fly-swats.

(Health and safety warning; can turn into all-out-warfare without careful monitoring!)
